Amelia advises owners, operators and other stakeholders on a wide range of transactional matters in the shipping and related energy sectors. Her practice is international covering matters such as shipbuilding contracts, cross-border debt and equity financing and security arrangements, largely for owners, in relation to commercial shipping matters, charterparties, long term LNG project time charters and other service contracts, LNG projects more broadly and floating oil and gas projects.

Amelia also has extensive experience, covering all the principal vessel types, on ship sale and purchase, ship registration and flagging, bareboat charterparties, pool agreements and ship management agreements.
