Experience

Represented the defendant(s) in one of Norwegian history's largest court cases on intellectual property rights. (LG-2012-162195). The plaintiff required a ban on the marketing of the defendant's multiphase meter (a measuring instrument for use in the oil industry). The plaintiff also claimed monetary damages, of which one of the claims was fixed at NOK 615 million. The court found for the defendant(s).

Counsel in a number of public procurement cases, including cases before The Norwegian Complaints Board for Public Procurement (KOFA) and the ordinary courts. E.g. David counselled the supplier in a case handled by Borgarting Court of Appeal (LB-2014-45516), where the purchaser claimed being entitled to pay NOK 44 million less than what was offered by the supplier. The court found for the supplier.

Legal advisor to the construction industry and the transport sector, especially regarding public procurement, drafting of contracts and contractual disputes.

Education

2001 Cand. jur., University of Oslo
