Thomas is currently on leave as deputy judge.

Thomas is Head of compliance & ESG, and part of Schjødt's oil, energy & shipping department. Thomas has been in Schjødt since 2013, and has had three short-time secondments with different E&P companies. He advises clients on compliance with ethical guidelines and regulatory requirements, including on anti-bribery/corruption, sanctions laws and restrictive measures. He also regularly assists in the performance of integrity due diligence investigations, as well as in the drafting and implementation of compliance programs.

Thomas has held several seminars and training sessions on various compliance-related topics. A large part of his work involves advising Norwegian and international companies within the oil & gas sector, including the service sector, on contractual and regulatory matters in connection with negotiations, transactions and disputes.
